INFORMATION

At all times relevant to this Information:

General Allegations

1. Defendant MATTHEW D. LANE lived in Worcester County, Massachusetts.
2. Co-Conspirator 1 (“CC-1”) lived in Illinois.
3. Victim 1 was a U.S.-based telecommunications company. In or about October 2022, an unknown individual obtained unauthorized access to Victim 1’s computer network and stole confidential customer information stored on that network (“the Stolen Victim 1 Data”).
4. Victim 2 was a software and cloud storage company that served school systems in the United States, Canada, and elsewhere.

5. Employee 1 was a contractor working for Victim 2. Victim 2 assigned Employee 1 credentials that Employee 1 used to access Victim 2's computer network, including a unique user identification number ending in 00A0 ("the Employee 1 Credentials").

The Cyber Extortion Conspiracy Targeting Victim 1

6. Between at least as early as April 2024 and in or about May 2024, LANE, CC-1, and co-conspirators known and unknown to the U.S. Attorney conspired to extort Victim 1 into paying a $200,000 ransom to avoid public disclosure of the Stolen Victim 1 Data.

Object and Purpose of the Cyber Extortion Conspiracy Targeting Victim 1

7. The object of the conspiracy was to commit cyber extortion by threatening to disclose the Stolen Victim 1 Data unless Victim 1 paid a ransom. The principal purposes of the conspiracy were for the co-conspirators to make money and to conceal their actions from Victim 1 and law enforcement.

Manner and Means of the Cyber Extortion Conspiracy Targeting Victim 1

8. Among the manner and means by which LANE, CC-1, and co-conspirators known and unknown to the U.S. Attorney carried out the conspiracy were the following:

- a. Obtaining the Stolen Victim 1 Data;
- b. Contacting Victim 1 representatives anonymously;
- c. Demanding payment in exchange for not leaking the Stolen Victim 1 Data;
and
- d. Using encrypted messaging applications and online accounts to hide their identities and evade detection by Victim 1 and law enforcement.

Overt Acts in Furtherance of the Cyber Extortion Conspiracy Targeting Victim 1

9. Between at least as early as April 2024 and in or about May 2024, LANE, CC-1, and co-conspirators known and unknown to the U.S. Attorney committed and caused to be committed the following overt acts, among others, in furtherance of the cyber extortion conspiracy targeting Victim 1:

a. On or about April 22, 2024, LANE used an anonymized email address to contact Victim 1 and demanded a ransom of $200,000 in Bitcoin in exchange for not leaking the Stolen Victim 1 Data;

b. Later the same day, LANE messaged CC-1 over Signal, an encrypted messaging application, that LANE had sent the extortionate message to Victim 1 and that Victim 1 had responded;

c. On or about April 25, 2024, LANE messaged CC-1 that Victim 1 had asked for samples of the Stolen Victim 1 Data, which LANE stated he would provide;

d. Minutes later, LANE messaged CC-1 that LANE had sent samples of the Stolen Victim 1 Data to Victim 1;

e. On or about April 27, 2024, in response to a message from CC-1, LANE stated that Victim 1 was likely to pay the ransom.

f. On or about April 29, 2024, LANE messaged CC-1 requesting input on how to pressure Victim 1 into responding to their ransom demand more quickly. After receiving CC-1's response, LANE notified CC-1 that he had sent a message to Victim 1.

g. On or about May 3, 2024, LANE and CC-1 discussed by Signal how to pressure Victim 1 to respond to their ransom demand and how long they should wait for Victim 1's response.

h. On or about May 6, 2024, CC-1 messaged LANE to check for a response from Victim 1.

i. Later that day, LANE copied the response that he had received from Victim 1 into a Signal message to CC-1. The response from Victim 1 stated: "When you messaged us from this account back in November, you told us not to pay any ransom as multiple copies of the data were floating around. Now, you come to us asking to be paid. We need help to understand your position."

j. After sharing Victim 1's message, LANE sent a proposed response to CC-1, which CC-1 approved.

k. LANE then emailed the answer he had proposed to Victim 1: "A member of our group (now handled with) split off with the data and claimed it as theirs. We eventually had him dealt with[]in the coming year. We are the only ones with a copy of this data now. Stop this nonsense and your executives and employees will see the same fate as he did. Make the correct decision and pay the ransom. If you keep stalling, it will be leaked. Do not waste time."

l. After sending the message to Victim 1, LANE updated CC-1 that he had "threatened" Victim 1 again.

m. On or about May 8, 2024, CC-1 messaged LANE for an update on the communications with Victim 1.

n. LANE messaged CC-1 in response that he had reduced the ransom demand to $75,000.

o. On or about May 14, 2024, LANE messaged CC-1 that if Victim 1 did not pay the ransom, LANE and CC-1 could sell the Stolen Victim 1 Data. LANE further suggested, “we need to hack another . . . company that[’]ll pay.”

LANE’s Unauthorized Access to Victim 2’s Computer Network

10. On or about September 4, 2024, LANE used the Employee 1 Credentials to gain unauthorized access to Victim 2’s computer network.

11. On or about the same day, LANE obtained student and teacher data belonging to one of Victim 2’s customers from Victim 2’s network without authorization.

12. On or about December 19, 2024, LANE leased a computer server from a cloud storage provider located in Ukraine.

13. On or about December 20, 2024, LANE caused the Social Security numbers, dates of birth, and confidential medical information, among other data, of the students and faculty of Victim 2’s customers to be transferred from Victim 2’s computer network to the computer server in Ukraine that LANE had leased the day before.

14. On or about December 28, 2024, Victim 2 received a ransom demand. The demand threatened to “leak . . . worldwide” the names, email addresses, phone numbers, Social Security numbers, dates of birth, medical information, residential addresses, parent and guardian information, and passwords, among other data, of more than 60 million students and 10 million teachers if Victim 2 did not send 30 Bitcoin (approximately $2.85 million at the time) to a specific Bitcoin address.
